

Pre-owned Equipment

Today pre-owned construction equipment has found tremendous appeal in Africa as a way to conserve capital by buying the cheaper alternative to new. Demand has grown even more driven by the increase in projects as governments ramp up infrastructure projects as a way to unlock Africa's vast economic potential.

However nothing has stimulated demand more than the internet which has brought together both the buyer in Africa and seller in Europe, America and Asia. The advent of on-line auctions has further enhanced this platform and offered the two players a market driven transparent pricing structure.

Today there are dozens of companies offering all kinds of construction equipment online and though all promise cost savings failing to be prudent can have a dire effect and mean heavy losses where savings were hoped for.

Through online auctions, you can easily buy any heavy equipment such as; Hydraulic excavators, generator sets, cranes, pavers, dump trucks, rollers, crawler tractors, wheel loaders, rock trucks, truck tractors, boom lifts, skid steer loaders, transportation trucks, mowers, combines and many, many more items. Whatever a buyer is looking for, the auctions are a great place to shop for what they need. An added benefit is that every single item is sold to the highest bidder on auction day, regardless of price.

Therefore selecting a reputable online auction house is vital. The equipment on sale must have some sort of quality assurance as to its state and reliability in shipping the equipment must also be guaranteed.

Ritchie Bros. Auctioneers is the world's largest auction company of industrial equipment and trucks. Each year, more than 3 percent of the world's used heavy machinery and trucks is exchanged from owner to owner at Ritchie Bros. globally held auctions. This makes Ritchie Bros. one of the largest sources in the world for equipment and trucks.

The company offers powerful solutions to small and large businesses around the world. Today, hundreds of thousands of people from all over the world benefit from selling and buying items and trucks at Ritchie Bros. auctions.

Each Ritchie Bros. auction offers a large variety of equipment and trucks, used in construction, transportation, mining, agriculture, material handling and other industries. The auctions are often referred to as 'heavy equipment supermarkets', because they offer a rich choice in equipment categories, brands, types, ages and conditions.
